ENFIELD CONNECTICUT

PREFACE

Throughout our four memorable years at Enfield High School the senior class of 1988 has achieved many goals and has set records in many events. We have certainly been a class that is On the Line.

Lines play such an important role in our lives; at school, in sports and in art and music. We are a special class full of distinguished individuals and although we are leaving to lead our separate lives, it is my hope that this year's Echo '88 will provide a look back into our special year.

Considering the condition that our world is in today, it is difficult to believe that a group of over 200 people could become as close as we have. The world we live in today is in turmoil. Wars are being fought across the globe, some costing nations an entire generation of youth. People are starving in third world nations while many of their leaders sit idly by. To many people the idea of family is in most cases non-existent. In the last year, we've seen corruption in the highest branch of government and in the campaigns of candidates who wished to lead our nation. Many people believe that we are on the verge of a nuclear holocaust. Yet, the Class of '88 has gone against the grain of today's society to become the close-knit community we are. Pulling together and accepting one another are what this class is all about, and what it's been all about for four great years. This past year especially has brought us closer together and has given us memories to last a lifetime. We would like to wish you the best of luck in fulfilling all of your goals and aspirations. Using the tools we've learned from one another, we can change the world.

1988 Connecticut Teacher of the Year Award Presentation

Frank Gawle was born and raised in one of the smallest towns in western Massachusetts and graduated from Easthampton High School in 1952. An honors graduate of A.I.C. in 1957 and a recipient of the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, he won a teaching fellowship at the University of Connecticut. In 1959 he received his M.A. in American History.

For almost three decades since, he has been actively involved in the education of Enfield's young people. In the classroom and in numerous other settings ranging from athletic fields to the theatre, he has been an exemplary role model. He possesses a passion for learning that is contagious, has consistently fought for the dignity and potential success of students of all intellectual abilities and has been a forceful and articulate defender of public education.

Speakers at the award presentation were Principal Leo Yaconiello, Board Chairman Francis A. Burke, Jr., Superintendent Dr. Louis Mager, and Commissioner of Education Dr. Gerald N. Tirozzi.

Homecoming 1987 ... Big Dance, Big Football Game, Big Expectations ... Months of hard work on floats ... if I see one more paper flower I'll ... Friday Night Dance ... Homecoming King and Queen chosen — Jack Riley and Sue DiFranco ... Senior float committee goes to Urian's house to put together float ... car parts made but still have to be assembled ... all-nighter for some of us to hopefully finish ... if we hear one more song from the "Dead" ... Scott Callan, our mastermind, tells people what they can do — "stop watching the @$*! movie and come out here and help!!" ... coffee, we need more coffee, Mrs. Urian!!! ... Who's snoring?!? let's record her ... stop talking, I'm trying to sleep! ... we are never going to finish ... morning arrives quickly ... still a long way to go ... Hurry up! We're running out of time ... We'll touch it up at Alcorn ... police escort ... we think we are late ... we'll be disqualified, oh no! ... arrival ... first one there — can you believe it? ... halftime ... tension ... waiting is the worst ... will seniors sweep? ... chant "sweep, sweep, sweep" ... winner is announced ... for the fourth year in a row, the class of 1988 ... we're ecstatic! ... yelling, cheering, and even crying ... well, we did it again ... now it is just a memory, but oh, what a great one!

For the float committees, Homecoming is more than just making paper flowers and putting together a float for a contest. We put aside all of our differences and work together as a team to create a class project. We not only work long and hard on our float, but also on building new friendships and strengthening old ones. As our high school years have passed and we are now seniors, those bonds that were formed at float meetings grow stronger and stronger. Those special moments turn into memories for us to recall throughout the school year, at Class Night, in college, and even to tell our own kids. For those two months each school year will not be forgotten by any of us.
